Syncopation is a suspension or an alteration of the natural accent.

The first, third, fifth and sixth measures of the above Rag Time are examples.

Instead of counting two to the measure in the above Study, as is usual in  $\frac{2}{4}$  time, it is advisable to count one to each eighth note or its equivalent, that is four to the measure. The measures containing syncopated notes will be better understood if they are given this count.

When two or more notes of the same degree of the staff are connected by a Tie or  the first only should be picked but its sound must be prolonged for the combined value of the notes thus connected.
